DELIGHTED TO BE OPENING the next campus multipurpose building, Bill Vander Zalm was at Capilano College Tuesday for among the last of his public engagements as education minister. Vander Zalm, notorious for his cuts in education funding, said he was pleased such expansion of the college was going ahead. He added that he was glad supporters of North Van Socred candidates Jack Davis and Angus Ree did not turn out as he did not want it to be a political event. However, banner-carrying, heckling supporters of NDP candidate for North Vancouver Capilano Olga Kempo ensured he did not get his wish.
