

College Students tackle SERIOUS SOUND SHORTAGE

COLLEGE MUSIC PROGRAM NEEDS YOUR HELP

In a corner of your basement long forgotten, tucked away with some spiders in the attic, or perhaps gathering dust at the top of a closet, do you have a musical instrument that you are not using?

The Capilano College Music Therapy Program could use it. They are launching an "Instrument Drive" for instruments of all types and in all conditions to be used in student led therapy sessions which are run in 21 greater Vancouver hospitals, schools and clinics.

If you have a music instrument that you would like to donate, you can drop it off at the Capilano College Music Department (Building H, room 101) or call 986-1911, local 454 and a music therapy student will pick it up. If for some reason they cannot find a use for your instrument, they will find a home for it in a local health facility.

For more information call Kerry Burke or Carol McQuarrie, 986-1911, local 454.
