

capilano college

SPEAKERS BUREAU

a special service of the College's Community Services Division

New listings for the 1974-1975 season
(effective until May, 1975)

Capilano College is pleased, once again, to be able to present some of its faculty members and administrators as speakers for interested groups in the North Shore and Howe Sound communities.

The following list of interesting topics and speakers represents part of the continuing effort by the Community Services Division of your community college to project the College and its personnel out into the community it serves.

These speakers are all available, free of charge, to any service club, association, group, etc.

All you need do to arrange for the speaker(s) you would like to have is to phone the College's publicity office at the Lynnmour Centre - 980-7511, locals 220 or 227. The Public Relations Assistant, Jan Bain, or the Director, Alan Smith, will be pleased to make the arrangements.

We hope you find this wide range of topics as interesting as we did when we were organizing them. If there are any topics or subject areas which your group may be interested in, but which are not covered in the list, please call us and we may be able to arrange a speaker for it. As you can see, our faculty provides us and the North Shore and Howe Sound communities with a large cadre of expertise in many areas.

1. College Philosophy and Services
2. What a Community College is
3. Future Trends in Education

Speaker: Peter Spratt, new College Principal
Available most evenings, with plenty of advance notice

Citizen Participation in China's Government

Speaker: Sonja Sanguinetti, College instructor in Political Science
Available Tuesday, Thursday & Friday evenings and during the day with notice

The Men's Liberation Movement

Speaker: Leonard Schein, College instructor in Psychology
Available any evening, except Monday and Wednesday

Capilano College's Employment-oriented Career Programs

Speaker: Harold Kirchner, Dean of Career Programs
Available Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings

1. Mexico South
2. What is Anthropology?

Speaker: Karin Lind, College instructor in Anthropology
Available Wednesday and Friday evenings

Racial Conflict - can it happen here?

Speaker: Daphne Kelgard, College instructor in Anthropology
Available any evening, or Tuesday and Thursday noon

1. Capilano College's Academic University Transfer Program
2. Flying for Pleasure in B.C.

Speaker: Dr. Doug. Jardine, Dean of Academic Studies
Available any evening

The Probability of Winning

Speaker: Dr. Bob Rennie, College instructor in Mathematics
Available Monday and Thursday evenings

1. Some Aspects of Life and Education in the Post-industrial World
2. Five Aims of Communication and How to Realize Them

Speaker: Dr. Bill Schermbrucker, College instructor in English
Available any evening

A Place For All Ages - the fantastic opportunities for adults in all the College programs

Speaker: Alan Smith, Director of Community Services
Available any evening, with sufficient notice

Capilano College's Student Services

Speaker: Tim Hollick-Kenyon, Dean of Student Services
Available evenings with plenty of advance notice

The Hazards of Nuclear Energy

Speakers: Dr. Greg Lee, College instructor in Physics, and Crawford Kilian, College instructor in English/Communications and formerly technical writer at Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Berkeley
Available Monday evenings

Capilano College's Library Services to the North Shore

Speaker: Del Affleck, Head Librarian
Available any Wednesday evening and Tuesday and Thursday evenings with notice

1. The Landscape of the Arctic and sub-Arctic
2. Ecological Reserves in B.C.
3. The Botanic Gardens of Britain
4. New Guinea - from tropical rainforest to alpine tundra

Speaker: Dr. L. Keith Wade, College instructor in Biology and member of the Ecological Reserves Board of B.C.
Available Tuesdays and Fridays

New Opportunities for Women - Career Programs in Administration and Commerce

Speaker: Wanda Tilley, College Coordinator of Administrative Science and Office Technology
Available evenings, except Monday

Propaganda and How to Survive It

Speaker: Crawford Kilian, College instructor in English/Communications
Available evenings, Monday to Thursday

Art for Profit and Pleasure

Speaker: Ted Kingan, College Coordinator of Art Programmes
Available any evening and most days, with sufficient notice

1. Chilean Revolution
2. Marxism in the World Today

Speaker: Ed. Lavallo, College instructor in Political Science and General Studies
Available by special arrangement, with sufficient notice

Incorporation Procedures

Speaker: Mary Bennett, College instructor in Administrative Science and Office
Technology
Available any evening, except Wednesday

1. Canadian Foreign Policy
2. Canadian Foreign Aid
3. Canada's Role in Indochina
4. Canada's Relationship to the "developing world"

Speaker: Claire Culhane, College instructor in History
Available most evenings, with notice

How Past Experience Affects Physical and Mental Health

Speaker: Dr. Nick Pareis, College instructor in Psychology
Available Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings

1. Coping with Stress through Leisure - An Urban Need
2. The Pacific Rim Park

Speaker: Brian White, Director of Outdoor Recreation Management and consultant to the Federal Government on Pacific Rim
Park
Available by special arrangement, with
sufficient notice

CAPILANO COLLEGE
2055 Purcell Way
North Vancouver
British Columbia
V7J 3H5