

Internal e-mail/Frontlines announcement:

We did it!

The Government of British Columbia today announced that Capilano has been redesignated as a university. The news comes almost a year after we began a well-supported public campaign for a change to university designation.

Today's announcement is really exciting news for Capilano University, our students and our regional economies. I would like to thank everyone who has worked to support this initiative over the past year.

As you can well imagine, there are lots of things to be considered and we will be meeting over the coming days and weeks to determine what our next steps will be. We will keep you posted on all new developments.

Thank you all!

Greg Lee
President, Capilano University

E-mail announcement to our supporters (sent out by Linda Young):

We did it!

As a valued supporter of Capilano, we wanted you to be among the first to know that the Government of British Columbia today announced that Capilano has been redesignated as a university. The news comes almost a year after we began our public campaign for a change to university designation.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my sincere thanks to you for helping us reach our goal. Today's announcement is really exciting news for Capilano, our students and our regional economies.

We will be meeting over the coming weeks to determine what our next steps will be.

Again, thank you very much for your continued support. It has really made a difference to the future of Capilano University and all the communities we serve.

Greg Lee
President, Capilano University

Website announcement:

We did it!

The Government of British Columbia today announced that Capilano has been redesignated as a university. The news comes almost a year after we began a well-supported public campaign for a change to university designation. (link to the media release.)