Applauding Outstanding Achievement

2008 CAPILANO DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARDS

Since offering our first classes in 1968, Capilano has evolved into a vibrant institution that has graduated thousands of diverse and outstanding alumni. From jazz musicians and acclaimed artists to magazine editors and research scientists, more than 55,000 graduates make up our unique Capilano alumni family. Many former students have become community leaders, esteemed professionals in their chosen fields, and inspiring examples of the value of a Capilano education.

The Distinguished Alumni Awards were initiated in 2007 to honor those Capilano alumni who have made significant contributions in their professions, within their communities, and in their dedication to lifelong learning.

As we celebrate our 40th anniversary and our new university designation, we proudly recognize the contributions our former students have made towards enriching the Capilano environment, along with that of our global community.

This year, six extraordinary individuals were honored and their achievements celebrated at a gala reception held on June 5 at the Capilano Golf and Country Club.

Profiles of this illustrious group follow.

CAPILANO 2008 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD RECIPIENT

Shannon Boase

Diploma in International Management, McRae Institute (Capilano), BBA, MBA

When Shannon Boase assumed her first position in Asia after graduation from Capilano's McRae Institute of International Management, she didn't forget her Capilano roots. Her internship with Price Waterhouse in Bangkok made her appreciate the difficulties of adapting to a new culture, and while working in various leadership roles with Asian companies, she enthusiastically helped McRae interns adjust to Asian business practices.

Dedicated to continuous learning, Shannon earned her MBA in Technology, Innovation and Strategy in France and became proficient in the Thai language. She also gathered the support of fellow McRae associates to fund a school to honour those who lost family members in Thailand's 2004 tsunami.

While working in Malaysia, Shannon's allergies to the pollution from burning palm waste led to the conception of Earthcycle Packaging Ltd., a company that produces sustainable packaging products using palm fibre waste. Environmentalists applaud the establishment of Earthcycle, as its products are completely compostable and become a healthy contribution to soil.

In April 2008, Earthcycle was presented with a Dupont Award for Packaging Innovation, selected from among 80 international entries. The company continues to win accolades for its unique approach to environmental and sustainability challenges.

2008 DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD NOMINEES

Barry Cartwright

Arts & Sciences (Capilano), BA, MA, PhD Candidate

Barry Cartwright truly exemplifies the definition of a master of all trades.

When he left Capilano in the early '70s with the highest GPA of any college student that year to enter Simon Fraser University, his bachelor's degree in sociology led him to work in international law. Over the years Barry has assisted thousands of individuals with their immigration process to Canada.

He next embarked on a master's program in sociology and lived in Portugal, Taiwan, Korea and Hong Kong, working for the legal immigration firm, Vick, McPhee & Liu. During this period, Barry co-authored a book on Canadian immigration law and became a recognized expert speaker at immigration and investment conferences worldwide.

At 52, Barry decided to pursue his PhD in Criminology at SFU, which he expects to complete this year. Currently a lecturer in SFU's School of Criminology, he has designed several courses and most of his classes have a waiting list.

A professional artist and musician, Barry continues to play rock music for various fundraisers in the Vancouver area. He is indeed a Renaissance man!

Richard Davies

Diploma, Business Administration (Capilano); MBA

Richard Davies has spent his entire adult life working in the B.C. credit union system, assuming virtually all positions from teller to Chief Executive Officer. Richard has been CEO of Gulf & Fraser Financial Group, in its various incarnations through mergers and acquisitions, for the past 17 years.

Under Richard's administration, the G&F Financial Group has grown from one branch and seven employees to a 12-branch operation with more than 200 employees. In addition, he has overseen the development of the credit union into a full service regional financial institution through the introduction of commercial lending, credit cards and telephone and internet banking.

A strong proponent of lifelong learning that began in Capilano's School of Business, Richard later earned an MBA from Queen's University and numerous designations within the financial services industry.

A married father of five children, Capilano benefited from Richard's financial expertise when he served on the Capilano Board for six years, chairing the Finance and Audit committees.

Denise Findlay

Retail Management Diploma (Capilano)

Denise Findlay, a member of the Squamish Nation, founded the personal and executive coaching firm, Chameleon, in response to her interest in building bridges between corporate and First Nations communities.

Chameleon is dedicated to catalyzing positive change in individuals and organizations, specializing in personal and executive coaching, needs assessments, and customized program development and training.

Denise earned a Retail Management diploma from Capilano in 1990 and was the first First Nation's co-active coach to be certified by the International Coaches Federation. She enjoys being a catalyst for change and a facilitator of growth and transformation, believing that everyone has the ability to move towards positive transformation. Her work is attracting international attention and she is asked to speak at conferences on a regular basis, especially in the area of cultivating natural leadership abilities in individuals.

Whitney McMillan

Studio Art Diploma, Crafts Instructor Certificate (Capilano), BSW, MSW

Whitney McMillan's passion for volunteerism first began at Capilano. Initially completing a Studio Art diploma and a Crafts Instructor certificate, she worked with residents at the George Pearson Centre, facilitating residents to participate in artistic and recreational activities.

Inspired to help people on a broader scale, she returned to Capilano to earn transfer credits to enrol in the University of British Columbia's School of Social Work, where she earned a BSW and an MSW. At Capilano, she volunteered with the Peer Mentor program, mentoring students as they transitioned into school life.

Motivated to make a difference in the lives of people with health or disability issues, Whitney focused her MSW on peer support. This led to a position at the Canadian Cancer Society, where she oversaw the Society's Peer Support program across the Greater Vancouver region. During Whitney's tenure, the Peer Volunteer team expanded from 40 to 80 volunteers and resulted in the creation of the more wide-reaching and stronger program, CancerConnection. Whitney was recently awarded the Canadian Cancer Society's Award of Excellence in Volunteer Management.

Lisa Tant

Retail Management Diploma (Capilano)

Lisa Tant will tell you that she kicked off her career in the fashion industry while studying at Capilano. The Retail Management graduate approached a guest speaker after class, and asked her about volunteering with her fashion marketing firm. She was hired on the spot to research and write a trend forecasting newsletter for retailers and manufacturers throughout North America.

From there, Lisa climbed up the fashion journalism ladder with stints at the Vancouver Sun and Vancouver magazine before being appointed beauty editor for Chatelaine magazine. She was promoted to Executive Editor at Chatelaine before being appointed Editor-in-Chief of Flare magazine in 2004.

Lisa is recognized as one of Canada's leading beauty and fashion experts, appearing regularly on Canadian radio and television shows. She is also a sought after speaker at local colleges and universities, and continues to seek bright new talent for her magazine.
