THE Cap College women's soccer team is Canada's best.

The Lady Blues claimed the Canadian Colleges Athletic Association crown this weekend with a 2-0 win over Quebec's FX Garneau in the gold medal championship game in Burnaby.

Kristina Roe and Sarah Regan both scored for Cap in the game.

"It was a very physical game," said head coach Doug Abercrombie of the final tilt. "Much more physical than I expected."

It brought a successful end to an undefeated national tournament for the BCCAA champs, who blanked the University of New Brunswick's Saint John Seawolves 10-0 to open the event and staged a 2-1 win over Toronto's Humber College in their second matchup.

"I wasn't too concerned about the Atlantic region," Abercrombie confessed. "Ontario was the game that I was more worried about, because if you don't win that game you don't get to the gold medal game anyway."

The team's narrow victory over Humber was hard fought, he said. At the outset it seemed like the Ontario opponents might just have the edge.

"(Our) team seemed to really be uptight. They were very nervous going

AN appeal of lawsuit involving the "wrongful birth" of a boy with Down's syndrome at Lions Gate Hospital in 1991 will be heard by the Supreme Court of Canada.

The appeal is based on whether the doctor's malpractice insurance or "society's safety net" should cover the child's care after he becomes an adult.

The highest court in the country agreed last week to hear the appeal launched by a lawyer representing the North Vancouver doctor in the case.

The doctor, Stanley Fred Morrill, died in 1998. His malpractice insurance is covering the legal proceedings.

Morrill's lawyer Chris Hinkson was unavailable to press time.
