

No more smoking

No smoking in class rooms, sto teachers from smoking, and smoking allowed only in designated areas of the cafeteria.

These were the sentiments behind the Student Society Executive motion last December which supported a non-smoking policy, with smoking only in strictly limited areas.

The complete lack of ventilation in the portables was cited as one of the really serious arguments against smoking in class. If smoking were left up to the choice of the individual classes, the remaining odor would still inconvenience the next class which could conceivably consist of non-smokers.

“The removal of cigarette sales on campus would possibly help the litter problem and lower the fire hazard.”

A suggestion was made to student society this year that smoking be unilaterally banned from all classrooms. although under consideration by the executive, it is considered doubtful that a strict stand by the SS on this matter would have any appreciable effect.
