WHAT'S ON

Are the stars out tonight? Who can tell in Vancouver in February? But if it's stars you want, then get thee to the Pitt International Gallery (317 West Hastings) Friday night.

The members of the Stellar Saxophone Quartet, a Vancouver ensemble, don't like to throw their reeds into one hat. So they'll play a little funk, some out-there improvisation, a ballad, something traditional from Eastern Europe. Your basic potpourri. Saxophone stars all, the members are: Coat Cook, a mainstay of the New Orchestra Workshop Society around town; Francois Houle, whose recent CD Hacienda is a scorcher; Daniel Kane, a graduate of the Kenny Wheeler Big Band; and ex-B-Sides member Bob Walker.

Music begins at 9 p.m. Leave your telescope at home.
